Before you begin to edit images in Photoshop, you should familiarize yourself with the basic concepts and tools. We'll start with an overview of the workspace and then go over basic tools. Once you have the basics down, we'll proceed to the more advanced skills you'll need to become a Photoshop pro. The Photoshop WorkSpace In Photoshop the center of the workspace is the content area. This is where you will place any image you wish to edit into it. You can have as many layers as you would like over the image. At the bottom of the workspace are the options area, where you'll find all the tools, settings and more. The left half of the workspace holds the workspace palette. This is where you can access and manage your layers, use various brushes, and undo/redo commands. Finally, the right side of the workspace is the toolbox, and it's here you'll find all your tools, most often in color-coded plastic bins. You can manipulate any tool simply by selecting a bin and clicking on the tool, a technique known as "hot-keyed." Basic Tools Photoshop's basic toolbox is a layered collection of tools that you use to create and alter images. You can create new layers that you can edit with your tools and make various adjustments and changes to the image. The Photoshop basic tools are as follows: Mode Layer Layer Mask Filter Adjustment Gradient Pencil Pencil Tool Brush Brush Tip Smudge Eraser Paths Rulers Magic Wand Lasso Tool Polygonal Lasso Tool Freeform Lasso Tool Selective Color Curves Hue/Saturation Bump Tile Replace Color Adjustment Brush Hair Stroke Bevel Smudge Tool Clone Stamp Gradient Mesh Geometry Move Tool Rectangle Select Tool Ellipse Select Tool Freeform Selection Tool Dot Eraser Fill Reflection Stamp Text Paint Bucket Eraser Luminosity Clone Soften Sharpen Blur

The Aloha State makes it easier to see things from the other side of the country. The same type of U.S. travel visas that work for people in Australia, New Zealand and the U.K. are usable for people in Hawaii. You can become a U.S. citizen when you turn 50 if you are born in Honolulu. The weather is a plus too. If the past is a predictor of future, Hawaii should be extremely sunny. Our weather is the 8th best in the nation and first on our Pacific Ocean coast. The high surf and absence of hurricanes may account for the quality of life here. The state's highest paid public employee is the mayor of Honolulu, a superintendent of parks and recreation and the director of beaches who is paid a salary of more than $220,000 a year. The state ranks 34th in the nation in full-time, permanent jobs in education and health care. We rank 30th for annual wages of high school graduates. The per capita income in Hawaii is $56,570. The unemployment rate is 4.5 percent, which is above the national average. The average cost of living in the state is just above the national average. Honolulu has been the top tourist destination for 10 straight years. Hawaii is the eleventh largest state with about 540,000 residents. County and city residents make up the rest of the population. There are eight counties in the state of Hawaii. The official name of the state is the 'Hawaii.' The state capital is Honolulu. Honolulu's population is about one-fourth of the state's total. The state of Hawaii has a Democratic Governor and a Democratic majority in the state Legislature. There are 11 congressional seats in Hawaii and the state is majority-Democratic. There are two senators for the state of Hawaii. Hawaii is one of the few states that has never been occupied by a foreign country. Hawaii is one of 17 states where Confederate soldiers are honored. All of the state's counties and 55 percent of the state's population has a Confederate connection. The state was referred to as 'The Garden Island' by Captain James Cook in 1778. Hawaii is the only state in the United States where the governor is called the governor of the state of Hawaii. Hala

In situ and in vitro transgenic daffodil plants. Transgenic cDNA and untransformed daffodils, Narcissus pseudonarcissus L., have been successfully regenerated after microprojectile bombardment of intact protoplasts. An average of 3-5% of the regenerated plants were transformed. The one transgenic plant regenerated from protoplasts prepared from non-transformed calli was also transgenic. Transgenic daffodils have been successfully regenerated after microprojectile bombardment of intact cuttings and by in vitro embryogenesis of the sepal explants. None of the regenerated transgenic lines displayed altered phenotypes. Each of these techniques gave transformed transgenic plants which proved to be fertile and have been successfully introgressed into the previously untransformed daffodil variety 'Sam'. A transgenic line was also regenerated by in vitro embryogenesis. This line was not fertile and no transgenic seed was recovered. The levels of expression of the transgenes in the vegetative and floral tissues of the transgenic plants was evaluated by radioactive in situ hybridisation to gene-specific probes. Microscopic examination showed altered morphology of the floral meristem of at least one transgenic line and reduced fertility in some of these. A high level of expression of the transgene was observed in the calyx, which is consistent with the role of this organ in the process of fertilisation.
