Opel voz/language CD for CD 70 Navi and DVD 90 Navi Opel Vauxhall 2005. In 1994, "Laguna" together with "Peugeot" and "Citroen" was the leader in sales of commercial vehicles in Europe. In January 1997, the Volkswagen concern closed all its divisions involved in the production of cars and special equipment, and poured new forces into KAMAZ: the Mazda Motor Corporation. Since then, it has developed steadily and dynamically. In 2000, GAZ Group managed to increase sales of KAMAZ by 1.5 times compared to 1997. At the same time, the share of sales of the brand "Laguna" increased by 3.5 - 4 times. GAZ Group and Komatsu launched a new joint venture, NEFAZ, which assembles buses and truck tractors for the needs of Gazprom and other private customers, as well as for the army, the Ministry of Internal Affairs and the rescue service. Gaz Group and Volkswagen AG have merged and created a joint venture NEFAZ, which will produce medium-duty gas trucks. The Gazelle Next family was also replenished with the new Gazon Next car. Japan has changed the direction of Japan's development. The new social model will focus on social welfare, the country's ability to provide itself with natural resources, engage in technology developments, contribute to solving environmental problems and humanitarian cooperation. But the problem of competitiveness in a country like Japan is also a factor that makes the desire for its participation in world processes in the international markets of the world not an easy process. The low level of competitiveness limits the ability of Japanese companies to attract investment and develop new technologies. In Japan, the bulk of financial transactions, including banking, and economic transactions can only be carried out taking into account that how a particular company does not have commercial potential. Over the past 20 years, more than 23,000 new jobs have been created in Japan. The number of jobs is constantly growing. But, despite the constant increase in the level of labor productivity, the working population is currently growing faster than labor productivity. Therefore, in order for companies like Gazang to compete internationally, they must constantly increase their level of innovation and ensure constant overproduction. But companies must also be more flexible, including financially, that is, they need to achieve sustainable economic growth, while maintaining flexibility and financial stability, in order to ultimately be competitive.
