November 13, 2007 – However, the NOD32 kernel does not cause high CPU usage or any other problems. In the upper left corner, click on the setting --> anti-virus and anti-spyware. In the list of programs, select NOD32 Antivirus and click on the button labeled "Optimize performance" at the top of the window. Next, enter the command "nod32" and select the Advanced option. Select "Unload all components" from the drop-down list. After restarting NOD32 Antivirus, you will not notice any changes. As you can see, the system runs smoothly and performance increases by 100%. This way you can optimize your antivirus and antispyware.
