This is being done via Google Apps Script. The parent document has an internal reference to a document that I need the name of. Below is the code I have up to this point: function getDocument(documentNumber) { var result = DocumentApp.openById(documentNumber).getName(); Logger.log(result); return result; } I need to get the value for "documentName" to go into a variable that will be used in a Google Apps Script function. I'm trying to avoid doing a for each loop to get the names of each document. A: You can retrieve the file name from the result of DocumentApp.open() using the getName() method: function getDocName(docNum) { var doc = DocumentApp.openById(docNum); var name = doc.getName(); Logger.log(name); } O PIB das empresas dos algarves teve alta de 2,9% em mar 570a42141b
