Real-estate in Sweden used to be a bit of a minefield for foreigners to navigate, and now the Swedish company Planit has come up with a new map to solve this problem. The company has turned its attention to Sweden's various municipalities and counties, and has created a comprehensive web map that showcases real-estate information by county. List of cities Category:Lists of cities in Europe Category:Geography of Sweden This invention relates to tubular composite interlayer insulation, and, more particularly, to a novel single body interlayer insulation that combines the advantages of standard glass fiber and resin coated glass fiber insulation products with an enhanced processing method. Interlayer insulation is used in building construction for sound and thermal insulation. One common construction material used in residential buildings is fiberglass. Fiberglass is a preferred insulation material because it is non-combustible, resistant to termite infestation, and has a low thermal conductivity. Resin coated glass fibers are also used as insulation products. A resin, typically polyisocyanate, is coated on the fibers. Glass fibers are spread, or "troweled" in a desired pattern over a substrate to be insulated and cured, typically in an oven. The resulting insulation has a uniform density and resistance to termite infestation. A need exists in the insulation industry for an interlayer product that combines the advantages of fiberglass and resin coated glass fiber insulation./dts-v1/; #include "bcm6328.dtsi" #include / { model = "HW027SBC"; compatible = "brcm,bcm6328-hwinet"; chosen { bootargs = "rootfstype=squashfs,jffs2 noinitrd console=tyS0,115200"; stdout-path = "serial0:115200n8"; }; keys { compatible = "gpio-keys-polled"; poll-interval =
