Windows 10 Fall Creators Update is now available for download. However, don't wait for the update to arrive, as you can download it. Instead, Google invites you to look into your PC. With Windows 10, you can go to the desktop and download the Windows 10 update there, and then you can restart your computer to install it. If you don't want to waste time reloading Windows 10 from your desktop PC, you can do it from your mobile device. Windows 10 has support for Microsoft Mobile, which allows users to install apps or updates directly on their phone, meaning they don't have to go to their home PC. Also, you can update your copy of Windows 10 right on your mobile device. a source
