The invention relates to a process for improving the post-deposition oxidation resistance of highly doped ZrO_2 films. The growth of doped ZrO_2 films involves two growth steps: the growth of a titanium-doped ZrO_2 film (c.f., G. Bastis et al, J. Am. Ceram. Soc. 70, 887 (1987)) and a post-deposition oxidation (P. Zhou et al, J. Am. Ceram. Soc. 74, 1222 (1991); A. Wagner et al, J. Am. Ceram. Soc. 74, 1251 (1991)). In both of the above-mentioned works, it was not possible to obtain a Ti-doped ZrO_2 film of the thickness necessary to form an optimum antireflection coating (i.e., greater than 1000.ANG.). In addition, due to the post-deposition oxidation treatment, the ZrO_2 films exhibited a high level of haze. Co-pending U.S. Ser. No. 08/013,203 (docket number CC-96-0045-C-PCT1) describes a process for the formation of Ti-doped ZrO_2 films wherein a noble metal-doped ZrO_2 film is formed in an atmosphere comprising oxygen and nitrogen. The noble metal is selected from the group consisting of Au, Pt, Rh, Ru and Ir. It is an object of the invention to provide a process which enhances the adhesion of a Ti-doped ZrO_2 film to an underlying substrate. It is a further object of the invention to provide a Ti-doped ZrO_2 film which has improved visible transmittance. It is a further object of the invention to provide a Ti-doped ZrO_2 film which has improved long term resistance to post-deposition oxidation.George Chakiris George Chakiris (born 1931) is an American actor, who is best known for playing the title role in the television series Kojak. What's New In?

The "Everytown for Gun Safety" campaign, funded by New York City Mayor Michael Bloomberg, announced the hiring of the former executive director of Mayors Against Illegal Guns, an initiative of the national organization Mayors Against Illegal Guns. "The fundamental problem of gun violence in America is that nobody has the information they need to make the best-informed decisions. And that requires that both national policy and local policy recognize how important information is to policy makers and that information can be useful to them in decisions they make," said Lisa McGinley, Mayors Against Illegal Guns' former executive director. McGinley added, "This is a lot more than just sitting back and watching, someone has to use local politics to actually lead on the issues of gun violence, and this is the first step of an ambitious vision to make things happen." "I don't want to go down memory lane," she said, to explain why Mayors Against Illegal Guns is creating a local version of the group. "There's a lot of disparate data that doesn't get together to help make policy. There's a lot of science and research that doesn't get taught in high school, so they're not out there advocating for themselves," she continued. "They're right. We're right. And if you go down a road of being right, you become part of a solution and not part of the problem." After Mayors Against Illegal Guns was launched in 2006, the initiative gained strength and was able to lobby Congress and other federal government agencies for tougher gun-control laws. The final report of the President's Task Force on Gun Control and Gun Violence Prevention, "The Small Arms Survey," found that gun control is only effective when coupled with programs to provide mental health care, mandatory background checks, smart gun technology, and tough penalties for gun crimes. According to the report, since the 2000s, the U.S. has seen an upsurge in mass shootings. The report says there were 41 such incidents in 2009; 45 in 2010; 57 in 2011; 66 in 2012; 93 in 2013; and so far in 2014, there have been 84 incidents of gun violence. Fifty-nine of the 94 mass shootings resulted in fatalities. Over a three-year period, the
