What's New In?

Brisqi is a task management app for the modern designer who prefers clean interfaces and sensible workflow. Every user has a board that they use to keep track of projects and tasks they have to complete in their personal and professional life. In Brisqi, boards can be customized. They can be grouped into projects and their sub-tasks, they can be labeled, and they can be colored according to their priority. We've also implemented simple filters to search tasks and boards. The app has a Kanban-inspired design, with a filter bar and a cards view (just like most Kanban apps). No matter what kind of card view you want to use, you can get one here. You can drag tasks into the board, drag cards between tasks, and you can apply labels to them. You can even move tasks and cards, and you can add comments. You can also add boards, projects, and groups to sync them across your devices. We've implemented the most advanced features of Kanban to make your work more efficient and effective. And we haven't forgot about the team. When you're part of a larger company, you want to be able to see what your colleagues are up to and collaborate with them. This is exactly what Brisqi is capable of. With support for teams and company boards, you can have a central place to keep track of everything you need to do for the moment, as well as every other member of your team. As you can imagine, Brisqi is a very powerful tool. It does have a few minor problems and bugs, but overall, it does its job well.
