What's new:

"Hi. I'm Light." "Don't even try to tell me you don't know what Light is!" Nitori scoffed. "Well.. sort of.." The Octoling admitted truthfully. In front of her she saw the entrance to the new clubhouse. "Okay... let's see... er.. you are the Light that is seen in parallel spaces, eh? Like... you my color, and... what, Color from the colors of the light spectrum, and as you can tell by saying I am Light, I am the true version of Light. You know, making it real light-y?" "Well you know what, come on in." Nitori yelled to him. "This way." The Octoling said in a cheerful voice following her, and opening the door where he could see a short hall, with a curtain in the corner and sitting inside a sofa, a little well dressed girl with brown hair and an angry face. "Hihi." He said making a wave for her. "What do you want?" the girl asked, making a face. "I'm the kid that's been doing the camping of you, uhmm... Hueco Mambo." She put her face down. "I don't want to see you. You're a fake." "Hah." Light moved over to where she was sitting, and sat down beside the sofa. "Why are you here?" The girl asked. "To apologize" "I don't want your apologies. If you made me a Light, and you just pretend to know who I am then you made a big mistake!" "Wha... A...! Mom..." Hueco Mambo said to him. "She's right Hueco, he made a mistake." Light said in a do serious face. "It was a bad mistake and I am really sorry if I made you worry about this." Light said with regret. "Let's just get to the point. We apologize. We're having friends camping near the canyon. Do you know where they are?" "That's easy. I can show you your camp site." Light said cheerfully. "And how are you going to do that?" "Just let's go. I'll help you." "You can't just show up. I
