Fantasy Grounds - Deadlands Cardstock Cowboys: Weird West 1 (Token Pack) Features Key:

Natural weapons cards. For every new action, a deck of new cards includes one supernatural or unnatural weapon that applies to the action. The cards represent a wide variety of weapons, including guns, knives, wooden clubs and other objects. Natural weapons with extra powers. Tools and other items get extra abilities (extra actions, resource regeneration and so on) due to the supernatural properties attached. Natural weapons on steroids. Each natural weapon does additional damage, and the items add more ability effects. It's civilized. Neutral human gangs fight with knives against one another. Dirty mean cowboys! Your cowboys have been out on the hard-boiled prairie, and it shows. Your cowboys start with a brawny eight muscles to all other cowboys.

Introduction to the system

Core mechanics:

You take a card for every action you want to perform, representing the cost or effort required for you to perform the action. You have a deck of cards.

Each player has a hand of cards, face down, that they can view (unless otherwise stated).

Each player has one deck of cards. The playing card deck has cards of five different ranks, including Ace.

Performing an action typically requires both cards from your hand and from your deck. As each card from your deck is played face up, the player must perform both steps of that action, or put their card back into their hand.

Each player starts with a simple deck of cards. Your start with a basic two-card deck. This can be augmented by purchasing cards with pips displayed on them for successively more cards.

You can usually re-buy cards at any time, but occasionally new actions become available, creating new decks. When this happens the previous versions of the deck fade from use and new decks are released.

Other cards are released as needed. We do our best to balance the new sets of cards to the previous versions of the decks (provided that others still want to play, of course).

How it works:

The game is completely player driven
