Control passing is an important element of the game and to deliver more fluid, intuitive control of the ball, we've made the dribbling system more responsive and natural, allowing you to pass the ball in any direction at any time, with greater fluidity and less energy expenditure. You can now swap between players after any pass has been released, and create game-changing plays with faster, more accurate and reactive shots. We've also enhanced ball physics to make the most accurate, reactive and pleasurable ball control. Players will react to the ball's trajectory more intelligently and will feel the ball come to them more naturally. Passing accuracy has been improved while ball control has been reinforced, making it easier to pass through the defense, and the development of players' abilities has been re-balanced. Emotions are as important as talent when creating players. We've continued to fine tune player reactions and balanced player progression to reflect every player's unique path to greatness.
