The official videogame of the FIFA family of competitions, FIFA is played by over 215 million people worldwide. Since the original release of FIFA in 1992, the game has become a global phenomenon and one of the world's best selling sports videogames. What did they change in FIFA 22? Powered by Football™. FIFA 22 features a new generation of football that feels more like real life, created using the same actual ball that the players use in-game. What's new in Ultimate Team? The Ultimate Team model is a new way to play FIFA where you collect packs of players called packs from your team or from the market. You will earn more points by playing with players in packs than by buying them, so in the end you will be able to make your dream team. In Ultimate Team you can: Train your team, adjust your tactics in real-time, compete in daily competitions, and earn packs from worldwide competitions through gameplay. What’s new in Take On The World? Take On The World is a new mode that takes the popular game to the next level by allowing players to take to the streets to compete in street battles against fans. Create your own team and experience the thrill of scoring a goal in the streets. What’s new in Career Mode? FIFA Career Mode is now powered by Football™. Create your own player with over 40 unique attributes, trade and sell players in your club, manage your finances and climb up the Career Path to the next level. What’s new in Online Seasons? FIFA Online Seasons introduces a brand-new structure for competitive online play and introduces a new Club Owner mode. In Online Seasons, you will manage your club in the new Online Cup format, complete in-game challenges and pick your squad throughout the year to rise up the ranks of competitive online play. When you reach the top of the leaderboard you can expand your club and roll out your own season. What's new in My Career Mode? My Career Mode continues to be completely up to you, with all the features you want from a career mode. Customise your career, choose your own path, manage your business, or just create your own free-to-play career path. What is the new 'Powered by Football' PlayStyle? Football is not a simple game. What's new in Fifa 22:

- KEY CHANGES: - The penalty area has been reviewed. Our teams gave feedback on this this year and our feedback was adopted, so this is the first time our review panel made the final decision. - A review was also made regarding the testing of players who are in their first year of being eligible as part of the global initiative, so that's a key area we will focus on as we're further along with the review process. - The pitch system has been re-worked. We were continuously assessing all of the things which make up a FIFA pitch and making lots of changes to different aspects of the game. For example, the pitch in FIFA 22 uses more advanced technology and is much more accurate and reliable. More parks and pitches have been added throughout the game, whilst also tweaking their settings. - The way injuries are handled in the game has been modified and is now much more accurate. We're also introducing video reviews for muscle pulls, with a new reviewer panel and checking process. - The shooting system has been enhanced, which has meant we needed to take better care of the way FIFA handles the animations, so that we don't give the impression that players are invisible when they hit the ball. This year we added several settings in the shooting system. - AI has been improved. A system has been introduced to make it easier and more fair to force and tackle players. You can now force players to go into a push as well and force players to better respect their team mates. - New stadium features have been added for more creativity in the exterior. - There will be new commentary and more ways to make your squad talk more. - There have been many tweaks to the ball impacts and physics system. For example, we have added a new crown brake that is usually used during a corner and prevent a situation where the ball goes as quick as lightning whilst the player struggles to stay with the ball. We've also made the ball lighter. - The way the goalie plays has been drastically improved. We introduced the ability to interact between the goalie and the team. It was hard for the defenders in the offside situations, as they had to be careful, but we've addressed this. - A new forensic system has been added, which will help your team find the right supporters and sign them up. - We have introduced new animations for the new-look striker, supporting striker and wingback

FIFA has always been at the forefront of innovation in all areas of football, and FIFA 22 delivers on that promise with new artificial intelligence (AI) technology that provides a genuine challenge to players of any skill level. The Skill Transfer System has been revised, smarter referees and card system along with the introduction of a whole range of new features will ensure that fans get the most realistic gameplay experience yet. "We're introducing a new host of new features with FIFA 22, including more intelligence in the game's new User Interface, the Ultimate Team Club, Football Intelligence and many more innovations," says producer Aaron McHardy. "Artificial Intelligence is one of the biggest and most significant changes that has been introduced for a while now, with the ability to now closely replicate the challenge of real-world matchday tactics. We've made sure that fans' favourite moments are now even more enjoyable to recreate by providing a host of new animations, taking account of key passing and shot situations." These innovations are reflected in the game's presentation, with extensive improvements to the visual fidelity of players, pitches and stadiums - and even goalkeepers! - that has been made with a reworked physics system and the addition of grainy post-processing. One of the most significant changes to the game's presentation is the new User Interface. Rather than having menus tucked away on the side of the screen, FIFA 22 players can now see all key game functions where they need to. "The revised User Interface is a big change but a welcomed one," says McHardy. "Players will find that most operations are faster to access, with tools appearing immediately when required, without any need to navigate screens or unlock functions. We've also incorporated tab menus into the Interface, as it is common to find in other sports games, to simplify navigation." Signs of the times FIFA 22's visuals are dramatically different from that of FIFA 17 as well as other sports titles, with new environments, zooming into the field of play, and vibrant, high-definition in-game graphics that provide a greater level of immersion. While the game will look different to FIFA 17, the visual fidelity is not the only area where FIFA 22 will provide gameplay improvements. FIFA's development team is dedicated to giving fans the most authentic soccer experience with improvements in
