So say cell A1 contains: "1557" and Cell B1 contains: "3565", the macro would look for the value "1557" in Column A and if found, replace it with the value "H0050" in Column B. A: There's no need for VBA, the formula you want is =IF(A1="1557";B1;--put anything here if it's not found--) Put this into C1 Analysis of the temporal phase of the vestibulo-ocular reflex in monkeys before and after deafferentation. The aim of this study is to analyze the temporal characteristics of the vestibulo-ocular reflex (VOR) in monkeys before and after vestibular deafferentation. VOR was evaluated by sinusoidal vestibular stimulation and recording of eye movements (gaze). The following findings can be concluded: 1. Stimulus frequencies with a low, medium, and high carrier frequency showed the same phase lag during the initial phase of the VOR.

However, during the second phase of the VOR the carrier frequency of the stimulus was a better indicator than stimulus frequency. 2. The modification of the VOR after unilateral labyrinthectomy was characterized by significantly reduced overall gain and increased rise time of eye movements. 3. A significant difference in the temporal characteristics of VOR could be observed between animals under the influence of glycopyrrolate and those which were not. 4. There was a significant positive correlation between the gain and rise time of eye movements when determining the angle of gaze in the vertical plane. 5. A significant difference in the temporal characteristics of the VOR was observed between left- and right-side stimulation. The temporal phase of 0cc13bf012
